CRASHED THROUGH RAILROAD GATES

Automobile Narrowly Misses Shifting Engine—Occupants Not Injured

An accident which perhaps might have proved serious was narrowly averted this forenoon on lower Market street. A touring car bearing the Massachusetts license plate 36823, and containing an elderly gentleman and lady, crossed over Noble's Island bridge coming into this city, just as a switching engine pulling a string of coal cars was coming out of the spur track leading onto the Consolidation Coal Company's docks.

WOMAN WAS BROUGHT BACK

Deserted Her Child in This City—Arrested in Waterville, Me.

May Woodman of Union, N. H., who six weeks ago deserted her child in this city, was arrested in Waterville, Me., on Monday and brought back here today.

Deputy Marshal Ducker went after her on Monday night and arrived home this forenoon. The warrant for her arrest was issued at the request of the county commissioners, who had had to provide for the child since it was deserted here.

The Woodman woman about six weeks ago went to the home of Mrs. David Stanley on Mechanic street and secured board for her child, saying that she was going to work in the Morley Button Co. She agreed to pay $3 a week. She evidently left the city at once for that was the last heard from her. The girl's stepfather in Union was notified but he disclaimed responsibility. The county commissioners took over the care of the child and began an investigation and then placed the case in the hands of the local police, and the woman was finally located in Waterville.

NASHUA SICK OF STRIKE

Want Mills Open and Strike Settled—Greeks to Leave the City.

Nashua, N. H., Nov. 8.—Citizens, particularly business men, are now coming forward to see if they cannot in some way aid in bringing about a settlement of the strike that has cost the city and individuals so many dollars during the past weeks.

This evening Mayor James B. Crowley met a number of business men in the aldermanic chamber to discuss the situation but nothing was given out on the session.

At Hamilton hall, this evening a meeting was addressed by Spyros Ciferias of Manchester and John J. Coyne of Manchester, secretary and treasurer of the state federation of labor.

Greeks Make Plea

The Greek employees of the mills today issued a statement to the effect that unless the mill was opened, they would leave the city. They did not join the strikers but were forced out when the mill closed.

The two United States Commissioners sent here by Secretary Wilson last week to investigate the strikes at the Nashua and Jackson mills planned to have conferences today with the agents of the mills. They were to meet Agent W. H. Cadwell of the Jackson company this morning and Agent R. S. Milliken of the Nashua company this afternoon. George B. Macomber has taken the place of Commissioner Colpo in the Nashua investigation, the latter having been called back to Washington.

The results of the conferences will not be made public by the government officials here but will be submitted in the report made to Secretary Wilson at Washington.

The commissioners were taken through the Nashua mills Saturday by the agent.

Part of the Manchester troops which have been on guard at the Nashua mills for the past month returned home Saturday night. About half the original force of 240 men are now on duty, including about 20 of the Manchester men and the two Nashua companies.

There were several meetings of the strikers Sunday and today with speakers from out of the city. The situation remains about the same, with no indication of the mills resuming work. The calls for aid on the city are growing rapidly as a result of the strike while many of the old employees are applying to the city for temporary work during the shut-down.

U.S. WILL NOT AID PANAMA LOAN

Washington, Nov. 8.—The state department announced today that it has approved use by the Panama government of $750,000 of Panama funds on deposit in this country for liquidating the country's emergency debt. It was officially denied that this government has approved or taken any part in the $1,250,000 loan authorized by the Panama Congress. Reports from Panama that this government wanted the appointment of an American financial adviser to straighten out Panama's affairs was officially denied.

GIGANTIC MAN-EATING LION!

No less a character than a huge man-devouring lion is given the leading role in "The Man Eater," without doubt the most unusual story of the year, and which will be published from day to day in The New York Evening World, commencing Monday, Nov. 15. This strange narrative is from the pen of Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of "Tarzan of the Apes," admittedly one of the best serials ever published in a newspaper. "The Man Eater" is considered to be a better story than "Tarzan." Don't fail to read the first installment in The Evening World next Monday.

Frederic Arthur Fogg

Died in Elliot Nov. 8, Frederic Arthur Fogg, aged 39 years.

FRANK MORAN, WILL PROBABLY BE NEXT OPPONENT OF JESS WILLARD.

FRANK MORAN

New York, Nov. 9.—Frank Moran, the blond haired Pittsburgh heavyweight, who recently defeated Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant here in three rounds, will in all probability be the next opponent of Jess Willard, the world's champion. Jess has announced his willingness to take on Frankie so it is more than likely that the pair will clash in New York early in December. Moran, through his defeat of Coffey is in the front rank of the heavies, and judging by his recent performances, he is the one man who has a chance of defeating Willard. Photograph shows Moran skipping gtho rope at his training quarters.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Nov. 8.—William Shaw, late nominee of the Prohibition party for governor and treasurer of the national organization of the Christian Endeavor Society, declared today that he will urge the next legislature to enact a law giving women the vote on the license question. "There is not the slightest doubt," said Mr. Shaw, "that the liquor interests caused the election of Samuel W. McCall and the defeat of Governor David I. Walsh." For doing this, Shaw believes they should be punished, and says that he has many letters from persons whose tempers are aroused by this show of arrogance made by the liquor interests in brazenly interfering with politics. The writers of these letters all declare that they will vote for no license in the election of next month. Next session Shaw will appear before the legislature and favor a bill giving women the right of suffrage on the liquor question. He points out that the special commission on drunkenness in its report shows how vitally women are affected by the liquor evil; that the destruction of the home, the divorces and separations, the degradation and unhappiness of the children all come from liquor.

Former President William H. Taft in an address here in opposition to a big United States army said: "Such an army must be by conscription, and any party which in time of peace attempts to raise an army of 600,000 men by conscription had better be looking for some other occupation very quickly rather than that of office holding. We have enough to do now to equip ourselves with an army of 80,000 at the rate of $15 a month, which is far larger pay than any soldier in the European countries receives."

Because of the intense enthusiasm created by the students who attended the Plattsburgh camps, over militarism, Captain H. D. Swann of the First Battalion of Field Artillery is arranging for a school for volunteers who wish to train with a view of taking command of citizens forces in the event of sudden need to defend the country. The school will open tomorrow night at the South Armory and sessions will be held one evening every second week. The school is to be conducted under the supervision of Captain Robert Davis, U. S. A., field artillery inspector-instructor attached to this district, with the assistance of Captain Swann and Sergt. Colprice, U. S. A. assistant surgeon instructor.

The American Association of Cosmopolitan clubs, an organization which is doing much to break down the barriers between nations, will hold its next convention at Harvard. The meeting is scheduled for December 27-30, and at that time students who come from many colleges and universities and who claim many different countries as their native land will gather to discuss ways and means of securing a greater degree of friendship between nations.

NEW RECORD IN FARM CROPS

United States Bumper Crop Will Help Feed the World.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The nation's principal farm crops this year are worth about five and a half billion dollars, exceeding by more than half a billion their value in 1914, the previous year, according to the country's crop history. There has been an unprecedented harvest, many of the crops exceeding their best records, and high prices due to the influence of the European war have contributed to swell the total value.

Statistics announced today by the department of agriculture in its November crop report, base values on prevailing November prices. Corn with a production of 3,090,000,000 bushels—31,000,000 bushels below the record crop—is worth $1,212,025,071, the most valuable corn crop ever grown. It exceeds the former biggest value crop—that of 1914 by $190,000,000.

Wheat, with the largest production ever known in any country, 1,002,993,000 bushels, or about one-fourth of the world's wheat crop this year, is worth $242,888,999, or $4,000,000 more than the record made in 1914.

The oats crop also was a record one both in production and in value. The harvest was 1,517,457,000 bushels—almost 100,000,000 bushels better than the record of 1914—and its value $532,599,522 is $34,000,000 more than the record value of the 1914 crop.

Barley, rice, sweet potatoes, hay and rice were record crops in point of production, and tobacco almost equaled its best production. The rice and hay crops were records in point of value.

In this year's harvest the corn crop passed the three billion bushel mark for the first time and the wheat crop crossed the one billion bushel mark for the first time.

Potato prospects declined 9,000,000 bushels during October, the crop now being placed at 350,283,000 bushels. That is 46,000,000 less than last year's crop, and the prospective moderate supply for winter use is reflected in the sharp advance in farm prices from 48.7 cents a bushel on October 1 to 60.08 cents on November 1. The November price is 8 cents higher than a year ago. The crop is shorter in the northern states which grow the surplus of the late crop. The quality too, is below the average.

MOVE TO REORGANIZE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon Discussed the Need of Such Work as This Organization Would Do and Committees Appointed to Perfect Plans.

A meeting of charity workers and those interested, was held on Monday afternoon at the Probate Court room on State street and it was by far the largest and most representative gathering of its kind ever held here. There were representatives from practically all of the charitable organizations, with the County Commissioner, Overseer of the Poor, District Nurse and others.

The meeting was called at the suggestion of the District Nursing Association, the call being signed by Mrs. Mary L. Wood, President, Miss Susan J. Wentworth, Mrs. William P. Stanley and Mrs. Horace Wiggin, and was as follows:

"Realizing that charitable efforts in Portsmouth are constantly being duplicated, the Portsmouth District Nursing Association has decided to call a Conference on Charitable Methods in Portsmouth to be held at the Probate Court room" etc.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. F. S. Towle and he was chosen chairman.

Mrs. Wood, for the Association, explained the object of the meeting, stating that for years it had been felt that there was some great need here of having a central body wherein the charity cases could be kept track of in order to prevent duplication. She said there was also great need of some constructive work as well as relief work, in other words the family who were down and out, needed in addition to being given relief to keep them from starving, to be helped to get back on their feet and regain a position where they would be self supporting. It was a lamented fact that there was some charity being dispensed here which was more harmful than beneficial from the fact that people were pauperized instead of being helped in the right way. There was the need of some trained worker to investigate all of the cases and sift out the good from the bad.

Remarks were made by several others, including Rev. L. H. Thayer, D. D., Mrs. Horace Wiggin, Miss Brucellin, Miss Morrison, Mr. F. W. Hartford, County Commissioner Beane, Miss Althaus and a very able talk by Miss Foster, the District Nurse, who plainly stated that the present methods used in this city were ancient and deplorable.

It was proposed to reorganize the Associated Charities which began some years ago, but which failed for lack of cooperation on the part of the various organizations. If reorganized, the Association will be along a little different line so as to overcome some of the objections raised at that time.

There is no doubt as was expressed at the meeting that there is much duplication and that there is more money dispensed in charity in this city than there is any need of, and a little more of the constructive work would be better.

The following committee was appointed to perfect plans for organization, to invite the cooperation of the different charitable organizations and to make arrangement for the reorganization or renewal of old charter of the Associated Charities: Rev. L. H. Thayer, chairman, R. D. McDonough, E. W. Hartford, N. H. Beane, H. E. Boynton, Mrs. Mary L. Wood, Mrs.

GRANDPA ROOSEVELT FORGETS POLITICS IN STURDY GRANDSON'S PRESENCE.

COLONEL and MRS. ROOSEVELT and RICHARD DERBY, JR.
COPYRIGHT 1915 CAMPBELL STUDIO, NEW YORK

[Forgetting the cares of politics and other distractions from the really important things of life—such as grandchildren—Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt posed in the charming family group shown here. The handsome little fellow is Richard Derby, Jr., son of Dr. Richard Derby of New York and the former Miss Ethel Roosevelt. Dr. Derby and his wife went last year to France to care for war victims in the hospitals, leaving Richard, Jr., in care of Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt, but they have returned.]

Horace Wiggin, Mrs. W. P. Stanley, Miss Susan J. Wentworth and Miss Martha S. Kimball.

This committee will hold a meeting within a few days and prepare a report.

The subject is one that everybody in this city should be interested in and some central organization should be formed and the work carried along other lines than as in the past.

THE GARDEN OF ALLAH.

Wonderful Production Scores Big Hit at Portland.

The Portland Press has the following to say about the production of "The Garden of Allah," which recently played in that city, and which appears here next Thursday:

"A marvelous succession of stage pictures which for beauty, truth, fullness and impressiveness has rarely or never before been presented upon the local stage, was that given at the Jefferson theatre last evening when the initial production of 'The Garden of Allah,' was witnessed by a crowded house."

The play as is well known is a dramatization of Robert Hichens's story of the same name which is generally regarded as one of the strongest of modern novels. In the dramatization of the book the author was assisted by the once famous actress, Mary Anderson. In the play of course, only the barest outline of his story is retained, and even at that it differs from it in important particulars. A great play has been made of it though, and one which must grip the beholder, especially if he chances to be in sympathy with the theme.

But admitting the strength of the play, it is not so much the love story of the hero and heroine and the supreme religious zeal which leads them to renounce each other at what both believe to be the command of God, that excites the interest of the average beholder, as the oriental atmosphere with which it is invested, the magic and mystery of the desert which one is made to feel. From the time the curtain first goes up on the desert scene with the caravan proceeding slowly along as the rising sun reddens the sands, until it falls upon the monastery, the doors of which separate forever the hero and heroine, the auditor is brought into the closest touch with that to us unknown and unknowable world which we call orientalism. Much has been written of the great East but no written words ever though penned by the great masters of literature would create in the mind that sense of the incomprehensible mystery of it all as is produced by the pictures shown in this wonderful production.

As the story is told Dominik Benliden a young English woman comes to the desert to endeavor to forget the sorrows that have come into her life. There she meets first an old friend of her father's, an Italian count who has been a life long resident of the region, and second a young man of mystic antecedents who is known to her as Boris Androvsky. Boris at first interests her and as the story proceeds this interest develops into love. The count falls in love with her himself and warns the girl against the man but she yields to her love and they are married. Together they go into the desert to spend their honeymoon while the Count departs for a long journey to try to forget his passion for the girl.

By a strange turn of fate the count and the young couple are brought together in the heart of the desert and there the former learns that the husband is a trappist monk who had renounced his vows and gone out into the world, none knew where. He tells his wife and he does. Of a strong religious nature herself she is at first stricken with horror by the discovery but later persuades the man to whom she has given herself to return to the life and the service of God from whom he has fled. She ascends him back to the monastery, they say their good bys and amid the cooing of doves in the ancient structure the doors open, he enters and is lost to her forever, except in memory.

It is a tragic story, unrelieved by faintest suggestion of anything like comedy, yet one that arouses the sympathies from the depths.

But as we have said it is really the atmosphere that is created about the story that gives it the intangible charm which it possesses. Lavishness is indeed a valid term to describe the manner on which the play is produced. There are eight scenes in the four acts or parts and not one but causes the auditor to hold his breath at the wonder of it.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

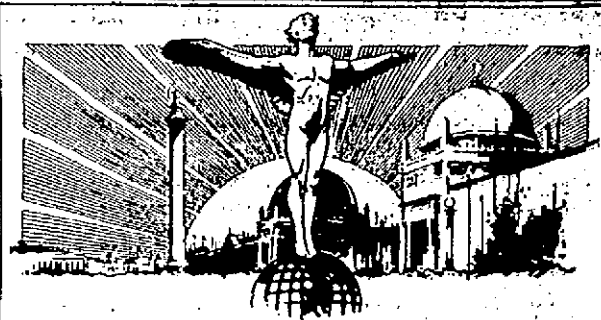

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

FRENCH LINER AFIRE AT SEA

New York, Nov. 8.—The French liner Rochambeau which sailed from New York Saturday, for France, is on fire at sea.

The French line received a wireless dispatch this afternoon from the commander of the steamer stating that there was fire in one of the bunkers, and that the Rochambeau was putting back to Halifax.

The dispatch from Captain Juham was as follows:

"Fire in reserve bunker. This cannot be controlled. Will put into Halifax. No danger."

When the Rochambeau sailed from New York there were 365 persons on board. There were 115 first cabin passengers, 100 steerage passengers and 150 officers and sailors.

The Rochambeau was built in 1911 and has a total tonnage of 12,000. She is 553 feet long, with a 23-foot beam. She is equipped with two steam turbines.

It is believed in marine circles that the fire on the Rochambeau was of incendiary origin, probably being caused by the explosion of a bomb that was put into the reserve coal bunker and was not discovered when the vessel was searched before its departure for Bordeaux.

Fire Laid to Bomb

The Rochambeau, like all other transatlantic liners, was searched from stem to stern before it sailed, but the bomb may have been hidden so deeply that it was overlooked.

The steamer was still in wireless communication with New York when Captain Juham sent his message, but was probably nearer Halifax than any United States port, this causing her commander to decide to go there.

Three other liners are in the immediate vicinity of the Rochambeau, so that they can stand by if their services are required. They are, the Norwegian American liner Kristiania Fjord; the Italian liner Vapore, and the Scandinavian American liner Frederik VIII.

Three other steamers, the Stambulla, the United States and the Patria are also within a short distance of the present position of the burning steamer.

The Rochambeau is well equipped with life-rafts, lifeboats and fire-fighting equipment. The reserve bunkers, in which the fire originated is in the bow and easily segregated by watertight, fireproof bulkheads.

Shortly after the first report that the Rochambeau was on fire reached New York it became known that while the vessel was being loaded Saturday morning a bag of sugar was dropped and on investigation this bag was found to contain a bomb.

Fire Prevention.

Governor Walsh of Massachusetts designated November 9 as fire prevention day in that state, the date being the anniversary of the great Boston fire of 1872. In his call for the observance of this day by considering and teaching methods of preventing fires he alludes sorrowfully to the recent burning of a school building in Massachusetts, by which the lives of more than twenty children were lost, and correctly adds that such a happening emphasizes the importance of doing everything possible to prevent the destruction of life and property by fire. Governor Walsh calls attention to government statistics which show that the direct and indirect losses by fire in the United States every year amount to one billion dollars, and adds: "It would be a sacrilege to even compare the loss of millions of wealth with the loss of precious lives. But as life is seldom lost by fire, except as property burns, it becomes our solemn obligation to protect property that lives may be saved."

No one will take issue with what is here set forth. All are familiar with the dreadfulness of fire as a destroyer of property and life, and none will question the propriety of employing all means for the prevention of fires. But heedlessness is such a marked trait of human nature, especially in this age of restlessness and rush, that the prevention of fires is not given the attention the subject deserves. Cities and towns appropriate liberally for the maintenance of departments to cope with fires when they come, but in the matter of preventing fires the people are extremely careless, apparently feeling that they have done their full duty when they have established competent fire departments and provided for their support.

A New England newspaper published a few days ago a report of the fires in its city in October, and it was shown that 75 per cent of them were due to carelessness, such as leaving matches within reach of children, placing hot ashes in barrels and throwing matches and cigar and cigaret stubs among dry leaves, etc.

Whether the people will ever learn to practice fire prevention as they should may be a question. The observance of fire prevention days should take their attention to some extent at least, and the thing to remember is that consideration of the subject should not be confined to one day of the year. If all would bear in mind the necessity of constant guarding against one of the greatest dangers of community life there would be a vast improvement in conditions and the annual tables of fire losses would be less appalling.

Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, has been annoyed by the publication of one of his reports that was not designed for publication. But, being an American, he is in a position to understand that sort of thing. A great deal of annoyance is caused in this country by the publication of matter not designed for the public gaze, and in many cases the results are beneficial.

This is a great time for the inventors and they are rising to the occasion. One has got up a device for timing the explosion of bombs from aeroplanes to the fraction of a second, and another comes forward with a gun that will throw a pound of dynamite twenty miles. And if a pound, why not a barrel by increasing the size of the gun? And this is "science" and "progress."

A Colorado professor announces that he has discovered a way to keep cider sweet. But that is something which a majority of cider drinkers don't want to do. With them a more popular recipe would be something that would turn sweet cider into "knock-em-stiff" in 24 hours.

Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, has tired of the stage so soon and quits it to return to the ring. Standing for exhibition before the curious pays fairly well, but the financial returns from the roped arena are larger and it is apparent that Willard, like the rest of his class, is out for the "mon."

CURRENT OPINION

Proper Education of Women Would Solve the Wage Problem.

Those societies scattered throughout the land, working for the legislation of a minimum wage for women, are administering a saccharin coated pill instead of taking means to obliterate the necessity of a minimum wage. It is much like rubbing a salve on the exterior of the body to cure a disease of the blood.

The only way to increase a girl's wage is to increase her earning power; make her efficient, or, as termed in psychology, make her a "motor" girl. A complete reformation of the public school system is necessary to accomplish this end. Only such subjects that make for efficiency should be taught in our public schools, and they should be taught by practical instructors. The schoolmaster is needed more than the schoolmistress because man's influence toward the practical is greater than that of the woman.

Instead of teaching "culture" and poetry to the girl who must earn her livelihood it is far more important that she should be taught stenography and other money earning subjects.

This is, of course, from an economical standpoint, and it is the only way to remedy the present situation.—By Dr. Simon N. Patten, Professor of Political Economy, University of Pennsylvania.

DENIES APPEAL FOR BETTER TRAIN SERVICE

Public Service Commission Thinks Business in North Country Does Not Warrant.

Concord, Nov. 8.—The petition of residents along the line of the Grand Trunk railroad between Berlin and Stratford for a restoration of the train service which was reduced last spring, was denied today by the public service commission. The commission found that the service reduction was reasonable in view of the present adverse business conditions.

"The schedule cancelling these trains," says the commission, "offered additional passenger service, by changing two freight trains into mixed trains, and by localizing three through passenger trains, thereby increasing the number of passenger trains available to the smaller stations from two to five daily. It thus appeared that the service was not reduced below a reasonable minimum and in view of the present adverse business conditions, it was not considered reasonable to require the restoration of the trains asked for in the petition."

The commission has issued an order requiring the erection of a suitable shelter by the Maine Central railroad at Piper Hill in Stewartstown, but denying the petition for additional train service.

MILLIKEN MARKET LETTER

The Situation

From a stock market point of view the most significant development of the past two weeks is the interest which has become manifested in standard railroad stocks, seasoned industrial issues with sustained dividend records behind them, and the copper stocks. In short, the section of the market which has been comparatively neglected during the sensational advances of the war stocks has been taken in hand. A natural reaction has come about in the war issues, placing the market in a healthier and more substantial condition.

There has apparently been a concerted effort to check the wild speculation in the "war babies." The banks have been discriminating against them more and more in their loans and peace talk has been used to the best advantage to discourage purchases of these issues. On the other hand, buying of the standard dividend payers has been encouraged.

The outstanding feature of the domestic industrial situation is the great and increasing activity of the steel business. Some steel companies have withdrawn as sellers of certain classes of steel to Europe. This is due to their desire to meet the requirements of the railroads, which are approaching large proportions. Heavy orders for rails and equipment have been placed within the last few weeks.

Large buying of copper is also in progress all the time, both by foreign countries and by domestic manufacturers who have been coming into the market to cover their requirements. The trend of prices for the metal appears to be upward and the leading producers say that, in spite of the very large expansion in the output of the red metal, there are accumulations

CHARGED WITH CHILD MURDER

Westfield, Mass., Nov. 9.—Miss Elizabeth Cannon, charged with killing the five-year-old ward, Lucile Thomas, was arraigned here today on a charge of murder and pleaded not guilty. The police say she confessed to killing the child because she could not bear to restore it to her mother.

WAR ORDERS NEAR $2,000,000,000 NOW

Bonding Company's Head Tolls of Contracts Placed by the Allies. War orders placed by the Allies in the United States and Canada since the beginning of the war total between $1,600,000,000 and $2,000,000,000, according to the estimate reached by William B. Joyce, president of the National Surety Company of New York, which was made public yesterday.

The estimates by Mr. Joyce were the first of an "official" character made public. They were based on the demand for bonding with the various surety companies of this country.

Most of the bonding on orders placed with the Canadian concerns has been placed with American surety companies.

The will of Mary T. Gorham filed in the Suffolk Probate office yesterday, leaves $3000 to Phillips-Exeter Academy for endowment fund and $2000 to the Cottage hospital at Exeter, N. H. The will leaves $200 each to Mary Hoy and Jonathan Kelley, servants of the testatrix. Frank W. Tansill of Cambridge, executor and trustee of the will, is left the house and land of the deceased, $2000 a year income from the estate as long as he is trustee, and the residue of the estate is put in trust for the benefit of his children. The testatrix lived at 102 Marlboro street and died October 29 last.

"SOMETHING FOR NOTHING"

Some men are convinced that there "aint no such anthing." Sometimes, however, storekeepers look on the manufacturer's newspaper advertising somewhat in this light. The manufacturer is spending money to benefit them. But the more alert realize that they can double and treble the benefits of the manufacturer's investment by showing the goods. The manufacturer's advertising in the newspaper and the goods in the window bring business. Don't let the manufacturer lift all the load—do your part.

Germans Report Many Successes in Serbia—Retake Trenches in Russia.

(Special to The Herald) Berlin, via wireless, Nov. 6.—Seven thousand Serbian soldiers and fifty cannon were captured by the Germans who took the Serbian arsenal town of Krusevac, the war office announced today. The Bulgarian troops have captured the town of Leskovac and have also reached the Southern Morava, while the German forces have stormed the Djavolski Heights on the left bank of the stream and captured the main Serbian position. Successes against the Russians are also announced in the official dispatch. Eastern theatre of war. Field Marshal Van Hindenburg's troops repulsed the Russians on November 7. The Russians occupied the small part of the German's first line trench west of Dvinsk, and the Germans made an attack and retook the trenches. The Germans north of Komarow captured 366 Russians.

BRITISH NAVY AND GERMAN ARMY MODELS

Washington, Nov. 3.—That the British navy and the German army are to be the military models around which discussion in Congress will probably centre when the question of measuring the merit of the administration's national defence program is indicated here by the trend of thought already developed. In this connection the N.Y. Herald's article of Sunday, written by Mr. Archibald Hurd, British naval expert, has been read here with interest because of the light it sheds on the question of naval supremacy. Well informed persons here, of course, realize the importance of such supremacy, but they urge that there is need of articles such as Mr. Hurd's to bring home to the general public.

The great majority of Representatives and Senators who have either settled in their mind the necessity of sea supremacy or at least concede the need of a large navy—some call it possibly an "adequate" navy—will want to know, as the next step in their process of self-enlightenment on naval matters, why the British navy is so efficient. Is it because it is large? Is it because the theory of organization is correct?

It is conceded that Congress will seek the secret of the success of the British navy, just as the average man is interested in the secret of the success of the successful man.

There probably will be little interest in the condition of the German navy, even if information were available on that point. American naval officers and heads of the navy department must be prepared to tell Congress all they know about the British navy.

On the other hand it is conceded that Congress will insist on knowing why the German army is so efficient. It is said that hardly any one disputes the efficiency of the German army and the machine-like precision with which it has carried out every detail of the program laid out for it that was humanly possible.

As is well known, the German army's success has been attributed by military men to the organization of its general staff. This fact may lead to a discussion of how comprehensive the powers of the general staff of the German army are. Already there is a controversy between those who say that the German general staff has been supreme in the conduct of the war and those who assert they have information that from time to time the Kaiser has overruled the program laid down by the general staff.

This little controversy, while of itself unimportant, bears directly on the military program of the administration, because there, too, the question of the supremacy of the general staff is at stake. It is known that the general staff's program has been modified by the civilian heads of the war department, for reasons that they will explain in Congress later. However good these reasons may be, there will probably be an element in Congress that will insist on following the recommendations of the general staff, and they will plead the case of Germany as a reason.

In view of the secrecy which surrounds the doings of both the British navy and the German army, it may be difficult to get up to date authentic information on either subject.

THE CHAMPAGNE BATTLEFIELD

Châlons, France, Nov. 1.—"When we have taken you out before we have shown you trenches," said a French officer. "This time we are going to show you a field of victory—lines of trenches which we took from the Germans." Not all the spoil had yet been removed from that section fifteen miles long and from one to five in breadth where on September 25 and 26 the French had broken back the siege line of the Germans with the concentration of infantry and the expenditure of a million shells.

of the crew which could be fastened by a bolt and a heavy chain.

"Three men were found inside—looked in," said an officer. "The turret was set in the parapet of a trench at an important point of the line. All the German soldiers in the neighborhood had either been killed or buried alive. We had to break the lock to take the crew out. All three were alive, but stunned. They had gone on firing their gun as long as they could."

Freely the correspondent moved between the old first line French and German trenches, which for many months had been a zone of death for whoever showed himself. In front of the first line trench the Germans had buried wire entanglements five or six feet broad. A rabbit could not have gone through without being caught.

In places now you had to search to find any wire. It had been chopped in to bits by the burst of shrapnel bullets from the "soixante quinze" guns and then kneaded into the earth by high explosive shells. Those guns had been firing from a range of anywhere from two thousand to five thousand yards, yet with such accuracy that they could hit this ribbon of wire six feet broad.

On such accuracy depended the success of the infantry in reaching the German trenches. There must be guns and shells enough to destroy wire over a front of fifteen miles.

If the Germans in the trench with their rifles and machine guns and hand grenades could go on firing it meant murder for the Frenchmen exposed in the open as they charged.

So fifteen or twenty yards beyond where the wire was being cut more shell fire had to kill the fire from the German trenches. Some blasts of shrapnel bullets here, too, enough to make any man in the German trenches want to keep his head down if he was not buried or vaporized by high explosive shells.

For hundreds of yards in some places there was scarcely any semblance of trenches after the French guns had prepared the way for the French infantry. It was as if the trenches had been dynamited systematically with charges plotted out, checker-board fashion.

At other places, where the destruction had not been so complete, it was possible to see what the German trenches were like and with what amazing thoroughness and care they had been built.

To a layman they seemed impenetrable. Down these slanting shafts under the parapets were caves twenty and thirty feet deep, for refuge in a bombardment. In many cases the opening had been closed by the descent of a ton or more of earth from the parapet from the concussion of a large calibre howitzer shell, and all the men within were buried alive.

The fate of those who were in the trench itself was often to be buried in fragments of flesh and bone blown into the soil by the explosives. The German guns could not fire on the French infantry as they reached the barbed wire for fear of hitting in the trenches and the French fire stopped for fear of hitting the French. Where an inferno of explosions had raged peace reigned over the wreckage brought by French gunner, as the French soldiers sprang over the remnants of parapets to face with bayonet and dagger any German that had survived and was in possession of his senses.

"Even those who were," said a soldier, "often yielded. What would you? We swarmed around them. We summoned those alive out of their dugouts. This we took our prisoners. That is, we took those who were alive. The dead and the wounded—Ah, Monsieur, they were more numerous than the prisoners. It was terrible, Monsieur, and it all happened very fast, Monsieur. The blood was hot. We had waited many months. It was victory."

"How good the lough-lough of the soixante quinze sounded behind us! How good the scream of our big shells. Then there were the mines we exploded. Have you seen the crater? So big you could almost put the Arc de Triomphe into one of them."

"We charged into a wall of smoke and dust from the shells and the smoke and dust were still thick when we reached the German trenches."

"And what did you think of when you charged?"

"Of nothing, Monsieur, except to get there. We ran as fast as we could. The sooner we got to those trenches the better—the less time the Germans had to recover from the shell fire and begin firing at us."

"Did you get as many Germans as they got of you?"

"More. In the first line trenches many more."

The question asked a score of times of officers and men always brought the same answer.

It was against the second line of trenches that the French suffered most for their guns could not always cut the barbed wire or blow the trenches to pieces so successfully farther on as the troops swept forward throughout the greatest day in the history of the war on the western front, till, night found them digging into the earth under cover of the darkness five miles beyond their old first line trenches.

GERMAN WOMAN FURNISHES PARTICULARS

London, Nov. 8.—The parents of a lance corporal in a Highland regiment who was killed in the recent fighting have received particulars about their son's death from a German woman in Frankfurt.

The woman's eldest brother was killed last year near Ypres and she knows she says how glad they were to receive any tidings of his death. Another brother who is an officer in the German army had written from the front begging her to inform the dead soldier's relatives of his fate.

In her letter the woman says: "Although we are enemies, pain and mourning unite us. So thought my brother too, for he wrote everything about your son he could find out. I am sure my brother and his comrades did all honor to his enemies."

ARMY AND NAVY PICTURES AT THE PORTSMOUTH

"NEAL OF THE NAVY" AND "THE SECOND IN COMMAND" PLAYING AGAIN TODAY.

With a big feature "Navy" picture and a British "Army" story picture, the program presented last evening at the Portsmouth theatre was one full of action. "Neal of the Navy," acknowledged to be the best of the photo-play series, came in for its usual share of appreciation by the large audience. There is not a dull moment in the entire series and the episode showing today is particularly interesting. The story is being published serially in the Chronicle and Herald in connection with the pictures and is creating a great deal of interest. Read the installment printed today on page 2.

This evening is "Bushman Night" at this popular play house. The new company (Metro) with which Mr. Bushman is now playing, has released a great story picture in its six reel feature, "The Second in Command." It is a romance centering about two officers in the British army and most of the action takes place in South Africa during the Boer War. The picture is filled with action and some clever comedy is also presented. It is a good clean story that cannot fail to hold interest through all the six reels. Mr. Bushman, one of Portsmouth's favorite stars, and Miss Marguerite Snow, play the principle roles.

C., during the convention of the Southern Commercial congress there, December 13 to 17. Features of the meeting will be a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the conclusion of the Civil war and a discussion of the national defense problem. Secretary Daniels and Secretary Garrison are expected to deliver addresses.

To Give Citizens Naval Training

Announcement was made at the navy department Washington, Monday that within a month arrangements will be announced for the development of citizens' naval training camps similar to the army camps developed at Plattsburg and the Middle West last summer.

It is said that the naval camps will be established at the training station, Newport, and at the Great Lakes training station, near Chicago.

The new Naval Reserve law, passed by the last congress, upon the recommendation of Mr. Daniels, secretary of the navy, has not been successful, and the navy is now confronted with the same problem of obtaining a reserve personnel as the army. Its needs for a reserve personnel are not so great in numbers as are those of the army, but it requires a higher degree of training in a large percentage of its men. It is thought that the naval training camps will be fully as popular as those of the army, since the work on the water and the cruises should appeal very much as a pleasant and healthy vacation.

AGAINST HUNTING DOGS

Sheep Breeders Report Big Losses Among Flocks.

Concord, Nov. 8.—The self-hunting dog with its relation to the sheep industry will be comprehensively and feelingly discussed at the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Sheep Breeders' Association, at the state house, Wednesday. From the advance reports it does not appear that the dog will have any friends in the assembly. Reports of depredations in various parts of the state, everywhere, in fact where sheep are being raised, will be made to the association, with resolutions outlining what the sheep owners think ought to be done with the dogs, who are running amuck among the sheep.

Commissioner Andrew L. Felker of the State Department of Agriculture is receiving letters and personal communication will bring out one of the largest attendances in recent years. Those expected include not only the members of the association, but many others interested in the systematic effort being made to rejuvenate agriculture and stock raising in New Hampshire.

Included in the matter of business to be considered will be the February meeting to be held in conjunction with the State Department of Agriculture, and changes in the constitution and by-laws. Commissioner Felker has had a complete census of the sheep and dogs in the state and he will report the number of dogs licensed, and the sheep taxed together with the amount of money paid for damage done to domestic animals. Several important committees are also to be appointed at this meeting to carry on work in contemplation.

PUSHING INVESTIGATION OF U. S. ARMY ACCOUNTS

Experts Busy on Quartermaster's Books at Newport

Newport, R. I., Nov. 8.—For six weeks experts from army headquarters in New York with investigators from the department of justice, have been examining the books and accounts of the quartermaster's detachment of the Narragansett defense district through the discovery that things were wrong, by Captain Ralph M. Mitchell, quartermaster officer, who took charge last December. Several arrests of non-commissioned officers of the quartermaster's department have occurred and others are looked for.

The books and vouchers, with some of the latter missing, have been examined for the past year with examinations to go back for three years. The fact that some orders for coal, provisions and other articles are missing is hampering progress of the investigation of accounts, but the investigators will clear up everything in time, no matter how long the effort takes.

The army and other branches of the federal government are giving Captain Mitchell all possible aid to reach those responsible for conditions. Colonel H. C. Davis, the post commander, says conditions have been checked and now it is to find the guilty men and to ascertain of what amount the government has been robbed. Reports state the figures will reach into thousands of dollars.

One way to relieve habitual constipation is to take regularly a mild laxative. Doan's Regulets are recommended for this purpose, 25¢ a box at all drug stores.

OPPOSES LEAGUE FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

Hon. William E. Chandler Declines to Become a Vice-President of the New Hampshire Branch in Letter to Former President of Dartmouth College.

Hon. William E. Chandler, Ex-United States Senator and former Secretary of the Navy, in a letter to former President William J. Tucker of Dartmouth College, has refused to become an honorary vice-president of the New Hampshire League for National Defense, giving as his reasons that he is opposed to any organization for "preparation" or for "national defense," thinking that it is unnecessary at this time. Mr. Chandler favors a certain outlay of money for the bringing of the army and navy to a higher standard than at present, but opposes the outlay of large sums blindly, and also the forming of organizations which have as their object the forcing of Congress to spend these sums for war purposes. Mr. Chandler's letter, made public last evening, is as follows:

Concord, N. H.,
November 5, 1915.

My dear President Tucker:

After careful thought I have reached the conclusion that I ought to decline to be an honorary Vice-President of the New Hampshire League for National Defense, for reasons which I give you and which I think are entirely in favor of all reasonable and necessary American preparation for the emergencies of the future, and I have been quite earnest therefore when there has seemed to me to exist indifference to preparation on the part of some statesmen who are now demanding extraordinary methods, for which there should be no haste—and yet I always feel kindly towards new converts who are making amends for past delinquencies.

There is however no need at this time of any of the organizations for "preparation" or for "national defense." There is no danger whatever that the United States will have a war with any one of the great nations, shortly or within the next five years, nor any such a war at any time without our having as an ally at least one of the great nations.

A reasonable enlargement of the regular army, a better organization and drilling of the militia of all the states, and continued progress in coast and harbor defense, every body whose opinion is worth anything is in favor of, without any outbursts of stimulation.

Neither does anyone object to continued progress in naval construction. For seventeen years after the Civil War we did nothing in that direction; then we began anew and during thirty years we have constructed a modern navy sufficient in size for our position as one of the great powers of the world.

But our correct present naval policy requires care and moderation in further large naval expenditures, especially in the construction of huge battleships and cruisers of enormous cost. Already a dozen or more of our present force are declared obsolete, and new constructions to take their places are demanded by brave naval officers, and by patriotic citizens who want the contracts to build them.

Yet nothing seems to me clearer than that before such construction goes forward of ships costing each from fifteen to twenty millions of dollars there ought to be careful consideration of the teachings of the European war; and that the policy of preparation for national warfare both on sea and land ought to be modified and guided in view of those teachings, before enormous expenditures and oppressive taxation of our people are decided upon.

Moderate expenditures for submarines and flying machines, and for all the arts of war by ways not of excessive cost should go forward but there is no need of organizing the people, by special artifices to demand their progress. Our citizens are sufficiently aroused, and Congress and its Committees, the President and his Secretaries and the wise and skillful army and navy officers will see to it that sufficient progress is made, and this without undue haste. Festina Lente, Secretary Herbert declares.

It seems to me that what little I can help to do for my country is not in stimulating the people into hasty and unnecessary military preparedness when we are not menaced in any serious sense in connection with the present almost world-wide war of the nations. I ought to join as I do, the New Hampshire Peace Society and to stay away from the New Hampshire War Society. The plans of the two may not directly antagonize, but there is no need of those of the one and much need of those of the other.

Lord Northcliffe last week wisely said of conditions in America: "In addition there is the subtle influence of the war. For months your people have been reading about the spilling of blood. This constant diet of war is sure to bring about an intense upheaval."

Such diet has certainly changed the sentimentality of President Wilson and Secretary Daniels and has turned them from conservatives and peaceful patriots into anxious and warlike politicians. A naval officer once told me he hoped Admiral Evans would get our country into a war with Chili because we had built a new navy and he thought it ought to be used!

Moreover the great work of the United States at the present moment should be in preparation, not for new wars but for the prevention of future wars after the horrible conflicts now going on are ended.

Our statesmen should first establish a League of Peace, power and prosperity for the nations of the western hemisphere, under which they should all unite in policies and measures, (1) for keeping out of controversies with the nations of the rest of the world, and (2) for keeping those nations from undue interference with American affairs.

Next we should with the utmost zeal and energy assist in forming a League of all the nations in the globe, for the purpose of making impossible any future war which shall be like that now existing, caused solely by too much military preparedness, bringing physical deterioration to the bodies of the people of the nations engaged, and shooting all mankind and causing spiritual despair to all Christian Believers.

Those Americans who hope to see the world in some way saved from coming to a deserved end can not afford to waste time, speech or deeds in proclaiming most mistakenly, any assumed present need of preparedness, for national defense or for warlike aggressions anywhere in this Universe. The path of peace is the organization of all nations for the accomplishment of peace.

Yours respectfully,

Wm. E. Chandler.

Hanover, N. H.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Portsmouth People Know How to Save It.

Many Portsmouth people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Portsmouth citizen's recommendation.

Albert W. Dunlap, 17 School St., Portsmouth, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for years and my back often became so sore and painful that I could scarcely get about. I had other symptoms which left no doubt in my mind that my kidneys were disordered. I finally secured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Pharmacy and through their use, every symptom of the trouble disappeared. I willingly confirm the endorsement I have previously given Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Dunlap had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

INVADERS IN CONTROL OF NORTHERN SERBIA

Germans Are in Firm Touch With Their Bulgar Allies—Anglo-French Allies Near Junction with Serbs—French Occupy Bubuna Heights.

London, Nov. 8.—The fall of Nish has united solidly the main Bulgarian forces and the Austro-German armies advancing from the north. Hitherto their communications consisted merely of tentative reaching out of advance guards. The Bulgarians and their allies now hold considerably more than half of Serbia and command the Nish railway which has been one of the chief objectives of their campaign. From Nish the Bulgarian line now runs north in a slight curve, encircling the Morava river, to Kraljevic, where it joins the main Austro-German forces. From that point the invaders' line turns at a right angle and runs due west across the broadest part of Serbia. The rough semi-circle made by the line is still contracting and as it does so, according to German reports is taking a heavy toll of Serbian prisoners. In southern Serbia the fortunes of war are less auspicious for the invaders. There the Bulgarians apparently have received a severe check from the Serbs. The French are continuing to press their advance into Bulgaria northeast of Strumitsa, a British contingent aiding them, a Salonica despatch states; but difficulties of the terrain make the progress slow.

Lieut. P. J. Davies declares, the French forces are following up their successes north of Philip, where a junction with the Serbs on the Babuna range is said to be imminent. On the extreme west of the Balkan front the Montenegrins claim to be holding the Austrians near Grubovo, inflicting severe losses upon them in desperate battles.

French Soon to Join Serbs
French troops have occupied Kosjak and Babuna Heights, which command Pletvar Pass, through which runs the Belgrade-Kavadar road and are expected to effect a junction soon with the Serbian army occupying the northwestern slope of the Babuna range, says a Monastir despatch to the Paris Math.

The French offensive against the Bulgarians is proceeding surely but slowly, because of the difficulties of the terrain in the section northeast of Strumitsa. Kuchaty and Mohitsky were occupied on the 5th, and Dolombo was stormed Saturday. It is reported in Salonica. The French advance toward the north is said to be continuing uninterruptedly today, with a British contingent on the right wing. The Serbs are reported to have repulsed heavy Bulgarian attacks in the Krivopal section, where the French also have materially extended their line which reaches northwest beyond Gradsko and west beyond the Thames river to the Kavadar region.

Allies' Forces Increasing
The French official report says: "Army of the East: There was no infantry action during the day of Nov. 5 towards Hadzovo. Our troops consolidated the positions conquered. Before Kraljevic the Bulgarians renewed their violent attacks during the whole of the day of Nov. 5, but each time repulsed."

Trying to Encircle Allies
A division of 25,000 Bulgarians in attempting to envelope the French force in the Valandovo region, according to information from Bulgarian soldiers obtained by a Greek outpost in the Hrasna Mountain at the junction of the Greek, Serbian and Bulgarian frontiers says a Reuters despatch from Salonica. Heavy artillery and rifle fire has been heard at the outpost station. A number of Bulgarian shells are reported to have fallen on the railway north of Quevelli, but Allied reinforcements are passing Quevelli regularly. It is asserted, a Serbian official is quoted as declaring the Serbs are holding firm at Babuna Pass, where all Bulgarian onslaughts have been repulsed. The Pass is said to be piled deep with Bulgarian dead. At one point more than 1000 Bulgars were caught between a cross fire and annihilated.

An important British contingent was landed Saturday at Salonica, where additional landing facilities have been granted the Allies after negotiations with the Greek authorities. Italians Make Minor Gains
Rome, via Paris, Nov. 8.—The official communication of the Italian general headquarters, dated Nov. 7, says: "Throughout the whole of the theatre of operations the actions of our artillery continue and our infantry attacks have gained fresh successes for us."

"In the Sella valley on the sixth, the enemy, wearing white great coats, advanced on our positions at Forella and Caciaroni but was repulsed with considerable loss."

"In the Sebach valley one of our detachments while reconnoitering succeeded in drawing under our entrenchments at Sella Novon numerous forces of the enemy, who were subjected to a withering artillery fire and dispersed."

"On the Carso yesterday after repulsing an enemy attack in the San Michele zone our infantry took the offensive and dispersed the Austrians, making 212 prisoners."

Claims Italian Offensive Fails
Vienna, Nov. 8.—The official war report says:

"Italian war theatre: The situation is unchanged. All attempts by the enemy to break our positions in the section of San Martino have failed."

Minor Fighting in West
Paris, Nov. 8.—The following official communiqué was issued by the War Office:

"Especially intense fighting with trench guns is reported in Belgium in the region of Het Sas and Bessinghe. In Artois, between the Somme and the Oise, and in Champagne, violent artillery engagements took place during the course of the day, more particularly localized in the sections of the Giverny wood and Neuvaigues and in the neighborhood of Tahure."

"One of our mines destroyed at Hill 235, in the Argonne, a German sap in which the enemy was working."

"There has been no action of importance on the rest of the front."

The Sunday afternoon communication follows: "Between the Somme and the Oise we captured German posts before Andorchy and checked by curtains of the activity of the enemy in the section of Neuvaigues."

"In Champagne an attack with grenades attempted by the Germans against our positions east of the Butte le Mesnil was easily repulsed."

"In the Vosges the fighting commenced yesterday at La Chapelle continued during the night. Our field guns efficaciously countered the mine throwers of the enemy."

"German aeroplanes dropped eight bombs in the region of Dunkirk. A boy was wounded and insignificant material damage was done."

Russians Again Victorious
Petrograd, Nov. 8.—The War Office Sunday made public the following official communication:

"On the Riga front our troops successfully attacked the Germans near the village of Olai, southwest of Riga. The enemy was obliged temporarily to evacuate this point."

"We have occupied the cemetery near the village of Laour, on the left bank of the Dyvna near Ikskul. South of Pivers in the same district we dispersed Germans crossing the Dyvna."

"On the western shore of Lake Sventen we captured the second line German trenches and took more than 300 soldiers and captured two machine guns and a searchlight. Subsequently the Germans made four counter-attacks unsuccessfully."

"On the left bank of the Styra the enemy attacked us near the village of Medvylje. He was repulsed. Fighting continues west of the village of Kostoukhovka, which we captured Thursday."

Se Russians as Shields
Petrograd, via London, Nov. 8.—What purpose to be extracted from two letters found upon the bodies of German soldiers on the field of battle, have been published by the Imperial Commission of inquiry into the conduct of the war. The first reads:

"In this case, when the advance becomes too hard, we take Russian prisoners and drive them before us against their fellow countrymen. Thus they at least in some measure diminish our losses."

The second reputed quotation follows:

"We don't know what to do with prisoners. Henceforth, we shall drive every Russian who surrenders before the line of our fortifications to be shot."

The commission announces that the letters will be photographed and translated into the leading languages of the world to be sent broadcast.

After a week filled with all kinds of rumors, the Donmu Commission has been authoritatively informed that Serjus Sazonoff will retain his post as Foreign Minister.

Execute More Belgians
Amsterdam, via London, Nov. 8.—A despatch from Brussels, coming by way of Berlin, says:

"A field court-martial has sentenced to death three Belgians and condemned another to twelve years' imprisonment. Since February, 1915, the condemned had noted all military transports proceeding to and returning from the front along two railway lines which information they communicated to the Allies. The sentences were confirmed and executed."

CONDUCTING EXPERIMENTS FOR PURE MILK

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE UNDER PROF. RASMUSSEN, TO INVESTIGATE VAST METHODS FOR FARMERS.

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Nov. 8.—With the hearty approval of President Fairchild, Professor Fred Rasmussen, head of the department of dairying, will begin at once, an exhaustive investigation of the cost of producing "inspected" milk in this state. At the same time he will try to discover the most satisfactory method of producing milk of this grade.

The legislature of 1911 enacted a law providing that "certified" and "inspected" milk might be sold and produced in this state. "Inspected" milk is milk inspected by representatives of the state board of health, and it must never have more than 100,000 bacteria to the cubic centimetre. The consumer of this "inspected" milk knows that he is getting pure milk. The purchaser of ordinary milk on the other hand, knows little or nothing about the quality of milk he is consuming.

Professor Rasmussen thinks that the health authorities who have heretofore been exceedingly careful and conscientious in their work may eventually, in the interests of all the people of the state, insist that all milk sold in New Hampshire be "inspected" or pasteurized. Even if the milk is to be pasteurized, it should be produced under sanitary conditions. As this last process is difficult and almost impossible for the average farmer, Professor Rasmussen proposes to find out for the benefit of the average farmer just what it would cost him to produce the other alternative "inspected" milk.

"Inspected" milk must come from cows which have been tested and found free from tuberculosis. This milk is cooled immediately to below 50 degrees, and is placed at once in sterilized bottles or other containers. The bacteria in this milk must never be more than 100,000 to the cubic centimetre and agents of the board of health from time to time examine the dairy and test the milk to see that all these conditions are being lived up to.

Unfortunately there are not more than about 20 men producing inspected milk in this state today, but a group of these has agreed to co-operate with the college dairy department in this investigation. In view then of the probability that the state in the near future may insist that all milk produced and consumed within the state is at least of "inspected" grade, the college now determines to gather in advance for the farmers all the facts they will need, and to have this data ready for distribution against the day when they will find themselves perhaps compelled to change completely the present generally-accepted methods of milk production.

ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE

Professor Rasmussen, incidentally, has set a watch on himself. He is keeping the most accurate account of his own expenses in producing milk at the college. This college milk is not "inspected," as the board of health authorities do not examine it, but it is actually much purer than "inspected" milk is expected to be. It has less than 10,000 bacteria to the cubic centimetre whereas the health authorities for "inspected" milk permit 100,000.

This extreme purity is of course only secured at the cost of eternal vigilance. Just what this means in dollars and cents Professor Rasmussen will be ready to tell next July. At that time he will have been in charge of the college dairy herd one year.

The college methods should prove an inspiration to every milk producer in the state. The udders and flanks of the cows upon reaching the barn are washed and dried. The men who do the milking are dressed in white and they carefully wash their hands before beginning to milk. The milk is filtered through two layers of gauze and a layer of absorbent cotton and then goes into the bottles. These bottles have been sterilized previously. The bottled milk is then placed in a refrigerating tank which brings the temperature down close to the freezing point and keeps it there. From this cold tank, the milk goes to the consumer as quickly as possible by auto delivery truck, and it reaches the man who drinks it, cold and pure. There is no better milk to be had in New Hampshire than this college milk, and if all producers took to market this kind of milk, there would be less disease in the state, and there would be more live, healthy babies.

"Anybody can produce 'inspected' milk," says Professor Rasmussen, "without expensive barns or expensive equipment. A clean, healthy cow, clean hands and clean utensils are the three main features."

Inspected milk will be produced in this state as soon as its value is understood and as soon as the consumer is willing to pay the comparatively slight additional cost for its production.

The college intends to find out definitely how the farmer may easiest produce this kind of milk and just what it will cost him. As soon as the college finds out, it will tell everybody in the state about it.

NAVAL NOTES

Against Submarines

Upon the recommendation of Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, chief of ordinance, the navy department has decided to purchase a high power motor boat for experimental purposes to develop the value of this type of craft in protection against submarine raids. Naval observers in England report that the British have made splendid use of these motor boats in their successful campaign which drove the German U-boats out of British waters. It is altogether likely that the trial work to be done with this motor boat will result in the addition of this type of craft to the regular naval building programme. The motor boat which the navy department will purchase will be entirely seaworthy and equipped with one eighteen-inch torpedo tube and one one-pounder rapid fire gun. Its estimated cost is $30,000. Designs for the ship have already been prepared.

Cruisers to Carry Aeroplanes

The success of the new catapult launching device for navy air machines means in the opinion of naval officers that all the vessels of the cruiser type will be ultimately equipped with these devices and will carry aeroplanes when they go to sea. It is certain that the new scout cruisers will carry aeroplane equipment, and they will be so designed to afford the deck room necessary for the launching of the apparatus. Thus the scouting ability of the new scout cruisers, themselves fast, and purposedly designed to keep track of an enemy fleet, will be added to by their aeroplane equipment. The navy department received word today that the catapult device has been tested several times. There were two more launchings from the cruiser North Carolina, the aviation ship at Pensacola, Fla., yesterday while the ship was under way at a speed of about five knots. The next step will be for the North Carolina to go to sea and have a launching experiment there. There is little doubt that this launching will be as successful as the other tests.

By next spring it is hoped that an aviation ship equipped with launching device will be assigned to regular duty with the Atlantic battle fleet.

WILSON QUOTES BIBLE

Wash., Nov. 8.—President Wilson has written the following letter to Seth Low:

"My dear Mr. Low: I thank you very warmly for your generous letter of Nov. 5 and for your courtesy in letting me have a copy of your remarks on the merchant marine question.

"I am particularly gratified that you should so fully concur in the position I took in my speech to the Manhattan Club. There is a quotation from Ezekiel which I have had very much in my mind recently in connection with these important matters. It is the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth verses of chapter 33:

"Son of Man, speak to the children of thy people and say unto them when I bring the sword upon the land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts, and set him for their watchman:

"If, when he seeth the sword come upon the land he blow the trumpet, and warn the people.

"Then whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet, and taketh not warning; if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be upon his head.

"He heareth the sound of the trumpet, and looketh not warning; his blood shall be upon him; but he that taketh warning shall deliver his soul.

"But if the watchman sees the sword come and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take away a person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; and his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,
"(Signed) Woodrow Wilson."

WHY NOT?

Captain Hill and his associates are working hard to raise the funds necessary for the building of the Seamen's Club in the city. It would be a bad plan if some of the local organizations would arrange a football game before the snow flies, the proceeds to be turned over to the committee in charge of this fund. There is no likelihood of any vast sum being gathered by such a method, but it is simply a case of "every little bit helps." The U. S. S. San Francisco team is out with a challenge to meet any team in the vicinity and perhaps they would be willing to be one of the parties in a game or a series of games for this purpose.

PERFECT POISE OF GOD'S JUSTICE AND LOVE

Mercy Is the Outward Expression of Love.

Love's Victory in God's Great Plan of the Ages—Why God Permitted Man's Fall—Man's Experiences During Six Thousand Years a Most Valuable Lesson—How One Redeemer Could Purchase a Race—God's Love Soon to Be Revealed to the Whole World.

New York City, Nov. 7.—Pastor Russell delivered a forceful, discursive tonight at the New York City Temple, W. 63rd St., near Broadway. His text was, "Mercy rejoiceth against judgment." James 2:13.

During the first part of his discourse the pastor discussed the Divine attribute of Justice as manifested in God's dealing with mankind. Prior to man's fall into sin, Divine Love had operated from the very beginning when God created His Son, the Logos, and later, when He created both angels and men in His own image. Man's fall brought Divine Justice into operation; for it was Justice which decreed that because of man's disobedience man should not live. Divine Love agreed that this decision was altogether proper, not only because it is right for God to be just and in harmony with His own Law, but because it would not be good for man to live eternally in a fallen condition.

Had God permitted man to live on in imperfection and sin, undoubtedly some of the race would have been able to cultivate such qualities of mind and character as to give them the ascendancy over their fellows and to bring all mankind into captivity to themselves. Except man should exercise the attributes of his character in harmony with the Divine character, he should not be permitted to live, because of the injury he would do. Thus Divine Love agrees with Divine Justice that sinful man should die.

Again, when our race came under the death sentence, God might have cut us off quickly. But He had in mind the Divine Plan of the Ages, (Ephesians 3:11, Diaglott.) During the present life, man was to learn certain lessons, that he might profit by them forever. All the experiences of the present life will have a bearing upon mankind during the period of restoration—the Incoming Age. Through experiences with pain and death for six thousand years the world has been educated along the lines of sin—lessons as to what a terrible thing sin is, how hard it is to control, how ruinous are its effects, how hardening of the heart and that final death will inevitably result from its practice. Thus twenty billions of our race have had a great schooling during the past 6,000 years.

Love Plans Man's Redemption. Then the speaker pointed out the manifestation of Divine Love toward our race. Long before Adam's Fall, Love had arranged a Plan whereby redemption would come, whereby Love would triumph over Justice. During Christ's Millennial Reign, redeeming Love will become restoring Love, through the agency of Him who died to redeem mankind. So ultimately, when death and hell (the grave) shall have delivered up all that are in them, Love will have triumphed over Justice, as it is written—1 Cor. 15:55, 57.

This is one of the most wonderful things in the Bible. God always maintains His Justice and His Love; and we are blessed by both. Justice, having triumphed over mankind for six thousand years, has brought them down to Sheol, Hades—the tomb. Meantime, Love began to operate in harmony with Justice; and it has given the great sacrifice of Jesus, and has arranged that at the Second Coming of Christ, and through His Millennial Reign, He shall awaken all mankind from the death-sleep.—John 5:28, 29.

How One Could Purchase a Race. The pastor then showed how Love will triumph over Justice. Since twenty billion souls have sinned, twenty billion redeemers would have been required in any other than God's way. But He provided that only one man should be condemned to death, and that through this one man's condemnation came upon all men while still in his loins. Thus one man could pay the penalty for all—1 Corinthians 15:21, 22; Romans 5:12, 18, 19.

This penalty was met by the sacrifice of Jesus' life. But is that not unjust? Oh, no! The Bible assures us that God stated the proposition beforehand to the Son, and that the Son was in full agreement—not the Man Jesus, but the Logos. The proposition was that by the purchase of the whole human race through His sacrifice He might obtain the honor of Messiah—the opportunity of delivering and blessing the billions who had been condemned in Adam; and that He should be highly exalted, even to the Divine nature—far above angels, principalities, powers and every name that is named. (Philippians 2:11.) ALL THIS IS THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE OVER JUSTICE! While Justice remains forever inviolate, yet Love is the victor. Mercy rejoiceth against Justice. When once we see the Bible teaching concerning the Divine Plan, it gives us confidence in the Bible as the Word of God.

EXCELLENT BILL AT THE COLONIAL

A SINGLE, A DOUBLE, AND A COMPLETE MUSICAL COMEDY IN THREE SCENES COMPRISED GREAT VAUDEVILLE ENTERTAINMENT.

At the evening performance at the Colonial Theatre the big house was filled to capacity, the large audience in the afternoon doing all the advertising that was necessary. The three vaudeville acts and the pictures made up a program that left little to be desired in the way of good entertainment.

The musical act presented by "The Fair Goods" consisting of three men and three girls was one of the best staged little comedies that have played in Portsmouth for months. The number is in three scenes, something unusual, and the closing scene, with one of the couples seated on a crescent moon, was very attractive. The aviation song, the eccentric dancing and all of the singing numbers were features.

The double act, played by Sydney and Fowler, created a great amount of enthusiasm, especially in the last dancing number, as "performed by Prof. and Mrs. Herman Goulash in their special dance, 'The Charlotte Russe'."

Von Seifried, with his wonderful athletic stunts, consisting chiefly of high kicking and jumping, completed a strong vaudeville bill of excellent quality.

The tenth episode of "The Goddess" and "The Shabbies," a dandy two part Vitaphone Dramatic comedy, together with the other pictures, made up an entertainment program hard to equal for quality or quantity.

Overcoats were not necessary yesterday while the sun was shining but with its setting the temperature dropped several degrees.

PLEASANTLY REMEMBERED BY HER ASSOCIATES

Mrs. Walter L. Brown, Jr., Presented a Chafing Dish By the Eureka.

In view of her removal to Gloucester, where her husband has secured a responsible position with the Gloucester Electric Light Company, the members of the Eureka Whist Club tendered Mrs. Walter L. Brown, Jr., a farewell party at the home of Mrs. M. S. Coyne, on Rockland street. A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation in behalf of the club members of a costly chafing dish, the presentation being made by Mrs. Harry E. Trafton. An original poem by Mrs. Coyne was greatly enjoyed by the club members and was to the point. Pineapple sherbet and assorted cake were served and the evening passed in such a manner as to be long remembered by those fortunate to be present. Mrs. Brown has been a popular member of the club since its early conception and her going away is sincerely regretted by the club associates, but one and all wish her and her husband the greatest of prosperity in their new field of labor.

HELPING THE FRENCH WOUNDED Local Ladies Make Pads and Bandages for Hospital Work.

The ladies of this city are doing their mite toward the relief of the wounded in the great European war and weekly a considerable amount of material is being prepared.

The meetings are held in the solicitor's room at the county court house, on State street, and it is a branch of the French War Relief Society.

A meeting was held this forenoon and twenty odd ladies were present and worked making medical bandages. The material, gauze for compresses, pads and the cotton for bandages, are secured at wholesale prices from the Boston headquarters, where special figures are secured owing to the great quantities purchased. Here it is cut into the required sizes and made up into rolls and pads, and packed in boxes. These are shipped to Boston and at a Boston hospital all are sterilized and then shipped to the hospital depot in Paris, where they are shipped to the various hospitals.

This is the third meeting of the local ladies and they have made a most excellent showing.

The following committee is in charge: Mrs. E. C. Hildsall, Miss Helen Walker, Mrs. A. H. Locke, Mrs. W. D. Walker, Mrs. Charles Conrad.

This is a suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Donnelly of Derry against White and Griffin of Derry to recover on some property they purchased from the defendant. The jury that is hearing the case is composed of: Stacy L. Nudd, foreman; Alfred L. Marston, W. B. Marshall, Eugene O. Earl, Blake H. Head, Levi B. Tilton, Ezra O. Hinkham, Ray P. Tuxton, Clarence Hilton, Wilfred E. Nason, Forrest E. Ellison, Henry E. Campbell.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attorney Warren of the firm of Burnham, Brown and Warren, and the defendants by Attorney Wyman of the firm of Taggart, Burroughs, Tuttle and Wyman, both firms of Manchester.

There are three more jury cases marked for trial. On Monday the trial of Mrs. Mary Burns, for murder, will be started.
